

Rio Wiki Fan-Art Contest 2016

Hi Rio Fans from all over the world! It's been a long time since the last contest, and the community decided to change this. So here's the 2016 Rio Wiki Fan-Art Contest.

Just as we did when Rio 2 hit theaters in 2014 we are inviting all of you to participate on the Rio Wiki Drawing Competition.

This time we're going to have 3 rounds. Each round will give you points and the user that gets more points at the end of the 3 rounds will be declared the Rio Wiki Champion.

The best drawing for each round will be exposed on the Rio Wiki's Main Page for one week. And the champion will get all his/her drawings exposed on the Rio Wiki's Main Page for a month.

The winner will be chosen by the community.

As I mentioned before this event will consist of 3 rounds:

First Round: Rio Drawing.

You can draw anything related to the Rio and Rio 2 movies. It can be a character or characters; a place or anything you can imagine.

Second Round: OC Drawing.

Just as happened with the first contest you must create a brand new character that you think should appear in Rio 3. Don't forget to name this new Character.

Third Round: Blu's Parents.

Everyone wants to know about Blu's parents. This is your chance to help us to meet them. You can draw Blu's father, mother or both, let your creativity fly high.

Starting from September 5TH you can register your participation for the first round by leaving a message on the contest blog post containing the following:

- Your drawing image
- Your User Name
- Your drawing's title

Only one entry per participant is allowed, the first one you register is the one that enters, so be careful.

Your drawing will get a participant number which along with your drawing's title will be a reference during the voting period.

Registrations will end on September 18th so the first voting period can start. Immediately after the first round ends the second round will begin with the same requirements. Then the voting period for the first round begins too.

On September 25th the second round ends and the final round begins. At this moment the winner for the first round will be declared.

On October 2nd the third round ends. The winner for the second round will be declared.

Finally on October 9th the winner for the third round will be declared.

The winner for each round will get 3 points, the second place 2 points and the third place 1 point.

The following week the final results will be revised so everyone is 100% sure who's the winner.

On October 16th the winner will be published on the Rio Wiki Main Page until November 16th.

There are no limits for how the drawing can be (although any image considered offensive will be immediately deleted), be as appealing as possible; you can use something as simple as a pencil or as complex as a design software so give your best.

We know all Rio Wiki users are trustworthy but I have to mention using images from other sources is not allowed, please don't cheat; the drawing must be your original creation (any attempt of cheating will be disqualified).

Are you ready? Then ruffle your feathers and start drawing!
